"Ent where ?" cries the boy.

"Snagshy wistfully, and coughing behind his fund his cough of great perplexity and doubt; really, that does seem a question. Where, you know?"

"My instructions don't go to that," replies the constable. "My instructions are that this boy is to move on."

Do you hear, Jo? It is nothing to you for to any one-cise, that the great lights of the parliamentary sky have failed for some two years, in this business, to set you the example of moving on the health of the parliamentary sky have failed for some two years, in this business, to set you the example of moving on the meanth of the parliamentary sky have failed for some two years, in this business, to set you the example of moving and the and-all of your strange existence upon and a jowel. For what are you, my young friend? Are you a beast of the field? No. A bird of the intervention. Howe on! You are by no means to move off Jo, for the great lights can't at all agree about that. Move on!

Mr. Snagshy says nothing to this effect; says nothing at all, indeed; but coughs, his forformest cough, expressive of no thoroughfare in any discretion. Mrs. Snagshy, from her elevation, instantly cries out, "No be don't!"
"My lit-tle woman!" says Mr. Snagsby, looking up the staircase. "My love, permit me!—
Pray have a moment's patience my dear. I do know something of this lad, and in what I know have a more thing.

"Well!' says the constable, "so far; it seems, he had grounds for what he said. When I took him into custady up in Holburn, he said, you knew him. Upon that, a young man who was in the crowd said he was acquainted with you, and you were a respectable housekeeper, and if I'd call and nathe the enquire he'd appear. The young man don't seem inclined to keep his word, but—Oh: Here is the young man?"

Jo moves on, through the long vacation, down to Blackfriar's Bridge, where he finds a baking stody corner, wherein to settle to his repast.

And there he sits, numehing and gnawing, and looking up at the great Cross on the summit of St. Pani's Cathedral, glittering above a red and and violet-finted cloud of smoks. Trom the boy's face one might suppose that sacred emblem to be, in his eyes, the crowning confusion of the great, confused city : so golden, so high up, so far out of his reach. There he sits, the sun going down, the river running fast, the crowd flowing by him producing them to the company. In only parting my limit upon him !!

"I don't know as I do, sir," replies Jo, "I don't expect nothink at all, sir, much, but that's the true hist'ry on it."
"You see what he is?" the constable observes to the audience. "Well, Mr. Snagsby, if I don't lock him up this time, will you engage for his moving on?"

"No.!" cries Mrs. Snagsby from the stairs.
"My little woman!" pleads her husband
"Constable. I have no doubt hell move on. You

It shows the witness, which is found to interesting by the state, is now nearly completed. It shows a population of over 250,000, and an increase of ladies that Mrs. Snagaby politely invites him to step up-stairs, and drink a cap of tea, if he will excuse the disarranged state of the tea table, consequent on their previous exertions.

Mr. Guppy yielding his assent to this proposal, Jo is requested to follow into the drawing-noon decreary, where Mr. Guppy takes him in hand as a witness, patting him into this shape that shape, and the other shape, like a butterman deating with so much butter, and worrying him according to the best models. Nor is the examination unlike namy such model displays, both in respect of its cliciting nothing, and of its being lengthy; for, Mr. Guppy is sensible of his talent, and Mrs. Snagesby feels, not only that it gratifies her inquisitive disposition, but that it lifts her husband's establishment higher up in the law. During the progress of this keen encounter, the vessel Chardand, being memby engaged in the oil trade, gets aground, and waits to be floated off.

The communication from a "Democratic Voer," published in the Scatinel a few days since provokes a very angry raply from the Madison Democrat. Our correspondent is favored with some of the choicest epithets from that organ's ocabulary; being politely set down as "a eneaking, cowardly polyroon," "a base and unprin cipled libeller" &c., &c. We infer from this explosion that the queries put by our corresponden were exceedingly awkward ones for the Democrat to answer. Indeed it makes but a poor fist of it and therefore assails its interrogator with all manner of abuse. Passing this by, as harmless in itself and only characteristic of the Democrat we take note of its answers.

1st. To the query whether Judge LARABE did not belt the regular democratic nomination for Congress in the Third District two years ago, th' Democrat replies that "if he did vote for Dory, he roted with a majority of the Democrats of his District." We don't see how that excuses the adnitted offence of bolting a regular nomination, unless the Democrat desires to have it understood that success justifies a bolt.

To the 2nd and 3rd queries of our correspon dent, whether Messrs. Lanaber and Smith did not themselves threaten to bolt and get up as Indepandent ticket, in case Judge Hussell should be aminated for Chief Justice, the Democrat replies that it " has no evidence" that Judge LARAREE said so and "does not believe" that Mr. Smith did. A lame and impotent conclusion.

4th. To the query whether Mr. A. D. Smru did not bolt the nomination of Joux White, when he was the regular party candidate for Shoriff of this County, the Democrat replies that "eight vears ago Mr. Sharn was guilty of the indiserctio of expressing an opinion unfavorable to the De-mocratic nominee for Sheriff." But it thinks that he has sufficiently around for this offence since. Lastly, the Democrat denies that the editor ever bolted a regular democratic nomination in his life, or that himself, and Messrs. Larranen and SMITH attended any caucuses held for the purpose of defeating the election of Gen. Donce as . S. Senator, after he had been " regularly nominated" for the office. We do not, however, understand the Democrat to deny that these gentlemen did their best to upset the decision of the caucus and prevent Gen. Dongs's re-election. Our correspondent, no doubt, will deal with the Democrat in his own time and way. It is enough for our present purpose to remark that Messrs A D. SMITH and C. H. LABRABEE, having themselves set the example of boiling regular maninations in political contests, cannot with any shadow of right, or reason, claim that all good Democrate are bound to vote for them, as the "regular" nominous, at a Judicial Election. What has a Protective Tariff Dene for England and Irefund?

The corn laws, which were nothing but a tariff or the protection of agriculturists, raised the price of food and the accessarics of life to an enormous The question and the statement are both timely, yet unexpected. It is a truth that the English corn laws on breadstuffs did raise and keep up the price of the farmer's produce, while they When England wished her manufacturer to pay their laborers less, so as to break down the Protective tariffs of one sort or another have prevailed in Engiand, and been held as a red over freiand for hundreds of years. These have been their fruits. A half-starved bruiffied, ignorant, debased population of operatives in England—desolution, ruin, beggary and death in irciand.

The example of Ireland is also an unfortunate one for the News' side of the question. At a large neeting in Albany, N. Y., Mr. Costigan, an Irisi Democrat, proposed the following toast:

Democrat, proposes the ronowing toast:

Protection to American Industry—The most legitimate and effectual punishment we can indict on John Bull, for his tyranny and appression to Ireland. The News won't advance its cause materially by citing the example of Ireland against protection home industry.

THE RAILROAD MEETING .- The Free Democrat rops its original objections to the Rail Road neeting on Monday and starts three new ones.-These are, that "the enemies of the La Crosse Road" organized the meeting, that the Chairman ppointed a Committee "opposed to the La Crosse Road," and "the same class of men endeavored to clanior down the friends of the road and pre- Shore Railroad, was sufficiently significant. The vent their speaking." It is sufficient to say, in following is the return : answer to all this, that the meeting was free to all, as well to those who opposed as to those who world the loan; that it was as much the right of one, as of the other to call the meeting to order; that it was not organized till twenty minures after the hour appointed, so that all sides had fair play; that the object of the meeting was to consider the question of leaning the city credit in aid of the La Crosse Road, and therefore those who were opposed to the law were just as much entitled to be represented in the Committee, and to be heard in the discussion, as those who were in favor of it; and finally that Speakers against the loan were just as much " clamored down" as those in favor. Nay more, the latter had four speakers and the former only iro. As to the Democrat's talk about " trickery,

THAT POSTAGE LAW.-We sat down on Wednesday morning and wrote a paragraph, con-demning that portion of the new newspaper law, which made it necessary to prepay at the mailing office to secure the 50 per cent deduction in postage. In the course of the afternoon, however, finding that the Washington papers had published the law incorrectly, and that propayment, oregular payment, either at the mailing or delivery affice, would answer, we wrote another paragraph to that effect, intending, of course, to leave the first one out. Somehow they both found their accidents will happen, sometimes.

Horticultural Exhibition--Te-Day

We trust that our readers will bear in mind that the Annual Exhibition of the Herticultural Se-ciety occurs this afternson and evening at Gardiner's Hall. We have every reason to believe that the show will be a very handlome one.

Particular attention is invited to the fact that articles intended for competition are required to be at the Hall by 12, M., so that they can be properly arranged, and should be accompanied with the name of the contributor, and the class in which it is intended to be exhibited. The Committees have the room between 1 and 216 P. M., for examination of the articles. The aid and comfort" of the presence of the ladies is carnestly wished by the Committee.

The doors open to the public at 3 P. M., Mamber's tickets (to be had at the door) admit the family of the owner, or two ladies not members. Admission the to persons not members, 10c each. At the close of the exhibition such of the articles as are presented to the Society, will be sold at auction.

The Laks Erle Collision.

We copy from the Detroit Daily Advertiser the following correspondence relative to the collision

To the Editor of the Detroit Daily Advertiser:
The silence of the owners and agents of the propeller Ogdensburgh—while the press has teemed with incorrect statements and the results of exparts examinations, relative to the late collision, made by the friends of the steamer Atlantic, for the purpose of influencing public, opinion—has caused a general impression that the owners of the Ogdensburgh could not rebut them.
To distribute the public we published on our own responsibility, the following business letter, addressed to us in teply to a telegraphic communication, requesting Mr. Chamberlin to meet Capt. Ward at Buffalo. In justice to Capt. Ward we add, that he proposed the interview for the very purpose suggested by Messrs. Chamberlain & Crawford.

Mesers. Chamberlain & Crawford have prompt-

Messrs Chamberlain & Crawford have promptly accepted the proposition made by Capt. Ward, in the event of a legal investigation being instituted, to enter into an amicable suit, in the U.S. Circuit Court at Columbus—each party asserting their claims and entering into bounds to the other to cover the probable damages.

John Christian & Co. Agents for the Propeller Ogdensburg. Christian & Co. Generalists of the Propeller Ogdensburg. Mrs. J Christian & Co. Generalists: Your despatch informing us of Mr. Ward's desire to meet us at Buffalo is at hand if it was necessary for us to go there, it world be impossible on account of the severe illness of our confidential Clerk and Book Keeper, Mr. Thompson.

No. 2 we not apprised of the object of the pro-posed interview, and of course are ignorant of the extent of its importance.

Mr. Ward having published his manifesto, and assumed his position, of course can desire no in-formation from us respecting the causes of the late fatal collision. Since that terrible event, we have given personal attention to the investigation of the causes, without attempting any interferof the causes, without attempting any interfer-ence with public sentiment. We have consulted eye witnesses who were on both boats, have examined the Propeller, and canefully noted the marks and indications there found, and in fact thoroughly investigated the whole meter.

found, and in fact thoroughly investigated the whole matter.

It is sufficient for us to have fully satisfied ourselves that no blame or responsibility for the accident can morally or legally be attached to the Propulier, her people or ourselves; and that we have a valid and lawful claim for our damages.—

Upon the conduct of the officers and crews respectiverly, we have no comments now to make—that is known and can also be proven.

Nor shall we at present willingly enter into any nexapaper controversy upon the subject. If Mr Ward desires to gain further information and to fully artisfy himself upon these matters, we would with pleasure render him any assistance in our power, or join him in any functual and not expart investigation.

Our loss is considerable and might have been very such the greatest, and we entertain for them that unobtrusive and fraternal sympathy that generous men should cherish towards each other to provoke a legal investigation, we are perfectly prepared and content to abide the result, both with the public and upon our respective interests Very truly Yours.

CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD.

Testimeny in Point.

In the U. S. Senate, the bill creating the office of Lieutemann General being under consideration, the following observations were made:

Mr. Hamin, of Maine, (Fierce Dem.) and: "I think ashingly, and I speak openly and publicly starywhere, of the distinguished general upon whom this rank is to be conferred, as any Senature here."

Mr. Rhett, of S. C., (States Rights Dem.) said:

"I shall vote for the resolutions, on the simple ground that Gen. Scott ments it—any testimonial of your high sense of his high and distinguished services should be cheerfully paid. He has shed glory on the United States, and we, representing the States, ought to bestow on him all the honor we can with propriety bestow. I shall vote and vote most cheerfully, to bestow on this distinguished soldier the honor which the resolutions propose, on the simple grounds that he has fairly and gloriously won it."

"As Review of S. C. (States Rights Democrat) and gloriously won it."

Mr. Butler, of S. C., (States Rights Democrat) and: "I concur with my colleague in saying that shall vote for this resolution most cheerfully as at abuse, a personal tribute to Gen Scott. He has we in for himself and his country a historical reputation, and I am willing, as far as I can, to bear testimon in my official character to his mer-bear testimony at any circust immediate rooms merits."

Mr. Hale, of N. H. (Free Soil Democrat) said:

1 believe, myself, that as far as military skill and military proveses are concerned. Gen Scott has a requisition compared with which no man in the worldwan stand before him. I believe, and I am susmined by information from military men, who were with him in Mexico, that greater skill,
greater science, and more of those characteristics which go to make up a great soldier, never were discharded by any curist awar than were displayed.

greater science, and more of those characteristics which go to make up a great soldier, riever were diplayed by any mortal man than were displayed by Gen. Scott, from the time he handed at Vera Cruz, mult be entered the city of Mexico.

History Clart, of Kr., (Whig) said: "I do not mean to dwell upon the merits of the individual it is proposed to be rewarded here; the whole country, the whole world, rings with his printes in a military point of view. If there ever was an instance in which it was the duty of a nation to offer its seminounts of gratitude with a view to stiming the seminounts of gratitude with a view to stiming the transpose of the individual who may receive it, the case of the conqueror of Mexico presents such an instance."

Instance.

Mr. Footh (Union Pierce Democrat) said:

Thomor the illustrious personage alluded to so often in the progress of this debate, as highly as any one here. All the commendation bestowed upon him on this occasion is, in my judgment, not at all beyond his deserts; as a patriot I receptive him as entitled to the most profound respect; as a high minded and accomplished gentleman, be possesses my enterin and affection; as the victor upon many a well-fought field, in which the national honor was traintained, and the one-mies of our beloved commtry humbled before our triumphant flag, I respect him, I am grateful to him, I am proud of him."

MINNESOTA PIONEER.—We learn, that the above paper will continue to be published by the helis of Mr. Goodhue.
